Treasures report was approved.

Willy Brusin gave the Forest Service Report, the Forest Service will be taking charge of the camp grounds in 2015, which will more then likely result in not having a camp host at Skillman next year, and may require additional assistance from GCTC to help maintain the camp ground. The Forest Service is also looking at the entire voluntary program which could impact GCTC ability to maintain trails and camp grounds, Willy will keep everyone informed as new information becomes available.

Joe Chavez from the Forest Services wants to review the 4 water crossings at Bowman ,near Lange Crossing before GCTC performs any maintenance on the Pioneer Trail. Hopefully we will be able to accomplish this work at a 2015 work day.

The United Trail Work Day is scheduled for Oct.12, on a Multi Use Trail across from Skillman , their will be 10 crews ,with all three clubs interacting(BONC, GCTC ,Woods Riders) .Would like to have at least 20 members from GCTC participate in the work day. The Pioneer Trail reroute has been completed with the help of the Washington Ridge Conservation crew and Willie Brusin. It only took three years to complete with all the regulations and paper work. GCTC members have ridden the trail and notice the improvement, even though the trail is a little soft, it will improve as we get rain and compaction.

Jet Lowe has out for review the Rock Creek Drainage trail reroute proposal, which will complete the trail map and hopefully get final approval in Spring of 2015. This will allow GCTC to post a new trail map of the trails GCTC maintains.

There is a work day scheduled for GCTC at Skillman for Wed. Oct. 15. Work from 9am until 12noon lunch is provided. Need at least 12 workers to help spread DG in the corrals. The DG will be paid for by GCTC and a loader will dump the DG in the stalls, with GCTC members spreading the DG. Will be a much needed improvement.

Vice President Melissa Ribley asked Linda Lanzoni to coordinate with the Forest Service on the improvements to the Skillman camp ground to help position fire rings and picnic tables. GCTC had a sight plan prepared on possible camp site improvements to Skillman including fire rings and parking spaces for each camp site. Don Soto agreed to assist Linda with her meetings with the Forest Service. It was encouraged to have a game plan of where GCTC would like to have the fire rings and picnic tables before meeting with the Forest Service.

Mary Johnson reminded everyone that September is renewal of memberships for GCTC, $25 for the year. Everyone still needs to fill out a membership and waiver of liability form. The new phone book will be out by March.

Merrill and Brad Kagan-Weston are working on updating the GCTC Web site, utilizing a Face Book format which allows for ease of updates, provides minutes, calendars, photos, trail maps, camp sites, and will be able to support pay pal. Hope to have something by the end of the month. Those who participated on the Royal Gorge ride said it was a beautiful ride, and a great facility for future horse trails.
